Save the Date: Presenting Palette to Palate, Experiential Dining for Patrons of the Fine and Culinary Arts in Naples

NAPLES (Jan. 20) -- With Naples emerging as a cultural destination with thriving art and dining scenes, Naples Originals and the Naples Art District are partnering on Palette to Palate, the region's first-of-its-kind experience for their patrons.

For two nights — Wednesday, April 29 and Thursday, April 30, 2020 — more than a dozen local artists will set up pop-up studios within each participating restaurant, capturing their unique vision of the eatery's ambiance and vibes. Diners can observe the artists at work, whose finished works will later be auctioned to benefit local charities.

"The local, independent restaurants of Naples Originals welcome fellow artists for a celebration of creativity. Our chef-driven restaurants are known for their culinary artistry and we're thrilled to host these meetings of 'palettes to palates,'" said Beth Preddy, executive director of Naples Originals, which was founded in 2008 to enhance awareness of Naples' locally-owned and operated restaurants and foment a thriving local dining scene.

The Naples Art District is located in the heart of a bustling industrial area for interior designers and artisans and has developed into the largest concentration of professional working artist studios and galleries in Southwest Florida. Its mission is "to provide our community, and its visitors, with a unique visual and cultural destination that promotes the arts and art education for all ages."

Restaurants participating to-date: Bayside Seafood Grille & Bar, Chez Boet, Ristorante, Fuse Global Cuisine, KC American Bistro, Lamoraga, Noodles Cafe & Sushi Bar, Real Macaw, Ridgway Bar & Grill, and Venue by Brian Roland (this will be a specially created event with multiple artists).

Details will be announced soon at Palette2Palate.com. Information call 239-404-5014.
